The Price Really Is Right!

1956 marked the beginning of the very popular American television game show, The Price is Right. The contestants on this program are selected from the studio audience with the ever-familiar shout of "Come on down!" The show is divided into two segments with four contestants in each, and during each segment of the show, the contestant who gives the closest guess to the price of the merchandise, without going over, gets to participate in the bonus round. The bonus round offers the opportunity to win even more pricey prizes, and there's often a happy big winner at the end.

While TV game shows are entertaining for the audience and exhilarating for the winners, there are more important decisions in life because of the effect they have on our eternal destinations. God wants everyone to be a winner (2 Pet. 3:9) and make it to heaven. He has determined the plan by which we may be saved, and we can know for certain that God's price for our souls is absolutely right; there is no guessing involved. Whenever we turn away from the world and its sin, and we turn toward God and His commands, eternal salvation is the ultimate prize (Tit. 2:11-12). When God offered His Son, Jesus, to be the sacrifice for our sins, the price for all was paid in full (1 John 4:10). There is no guesswork on our part: All we have to do is obey (Heb. 5:8-9) in order to obtain that prize.

God has given us the call through the gospel to “come on over” (Rev. 20:6). Let us come to God and be winners eternally in heaven.
